“ I have just learned of the passing of this kind soul. I met Jennifer on Instagram - as we shared a love of letter writing, painting, coffee, and conversations. She was not only a loyal customer, but a sweet and supportive online friend I looked forward to chatting with on a regular basis. Our love of letter writing parlayed into a therapeutic group of watercolor painters - where we learned together and supported one another. Her appreciation for the snail mail community and ability to brighten the days of others through mail was genuine. I will miss our frequent check-ins. My heart-felt condolences go out to her family at this sad time. - Lori Christensen

“ Jennifer and I became friends this year after sharing a mutual interest in postcrossing and other forms of swapping mail. We really hit it off on Instagram, where she shared many photos of interesting post offices from around the country. I miss Jennifer. I'm glad fate brought us together as friends.

“ Dear June and Joe, my skipped a beat, and tears flowed from my eyes. I was instantly put into shock. I recalled the blanket I stitched for Jennifer. Then when I added her to my prayers, I just can't believe Jennifer is gone from this. But her memory will never fade away. God bless you June and Joe and Jon.

“ With aching heart, since I heard the sad news today, I have been thinking about Jennifer. So many memories of that beautiful, sweet little girl who started coming to Christian Life Center all those years ago, have gone through my mind. I watched as she became a lovely young woman, a friend to my son, and a wonderful part of our young people's group. Occasionally, I run across the picture of her in her lovely prom dress, escorted by my son, and I smile at the memory. She was quiet, but thoughtful and kind. I remember going to see her when she was a student at Arkansas State, and I cheered her on in her studies, hoping that her dreams would come true, that she would be successful in her chosen field. She was, and I was so proud of her. Although I haven't seen her in several years, she has had a special place in my heart, and I am praying for her precious family--that God will give them comfort and peace. Rest in peace, sweet Jennifer; we will miss you.

“ Jennifer is my cousin, one of my very first friends. I remember a childhood sleepover with her. She had just washed her hair, and we were having one last cup of red Kool-Aid. I can't remember if she told a joke or what, but something funny came out of her mouth, and I laughed, spraying red Kool-Aid all over her. She had to get back in the bath and wash her hair again. She was not happy about it. Truth be told, I thought it was her own fault for being so funny.

I will miss her always.
