

Jordanne "Riley" Hackerott

August 9, 1990 - June 28, 2019

Jordanne (Riley) Elisabeth Troy Hackerott, 28, of Nashville, TN died on Friday, June 28, 2019 at her home. Jordanne was born on August 9, 1990 in Manhattan, Kansas to Troy and Caroline Hackerott. Jordanne grew up in Stillwater, Oklahoma and graduated from Hays High School in 2008. Following graduation, Jordanne moved to Seattle, WA and Los Angeles, CA before settling in Nashville, TN. In Nashville, Jordanne performed and recorded as Android Girlfriend. Through music and an outgoing personality, Jordanne created a large family of friends. Despite challenges, Jordanne was known for the light they brought the gathering of those they loved.

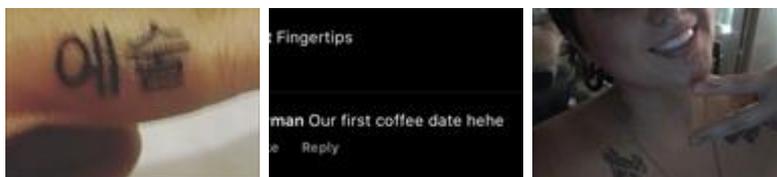

Jordanne is survived by a brother, Jay (Lizzie) Hackerott of Yukon, OK and their children Bradley and Liliya; grandparents Roger and Glenna Hackerott, Russell, KS; aunt Shauna Hackerott, Great Bend, KS; aunt Amanda Hackerott, Great Bend, KS, uncle David (Kelly) Sherry, Norman, OK; uncle Richard (Michelle) Sherry, Olathe, KS; uncle Kurt (Victoria) Sherry, Wichita, KS; several cousins and a family of friends. Preceding Jordanne in death were maternal grandparents James and Caroline Sherry of Abilene, KS.

A celebration of Jordanne's life is planned for July 15, 2019 at 11:00 AM St. John's Lutheran Church in Russell, KS. In lieu of flowers, the family requests donations to Planned Parenthood, The Trevor Project (thetrevorproject.org), or the International Rescue Committee (rescue.org) be made in Jordanne's name.

“ I’ll always love you and never forget you. I think, I hear you speaking to me every day since I found out. And I know I heard you when you died before I actually knew you left this earth and I immediately wrote you mid June; No response. I knew something happened, but I went on oblivious with having a baby girl she had and has most of my attention since she was born June 10th 2019. I wish she could have met you, she is beautiful just like her momma Bee. Just like you too. Jordanne you are so missed. I knew you had a short amount of time on this Earth and I was always frightened of that Vinny knows, I told him this many times over the past three years. I just didn’t want to face it so I distanced myself regrettably dearest Riley. And I wish I had faced my fears because you inspired me. And when I recently got into the music business a few months ago I again unaware reached out and said hey come back to LA let’s make some music and share this gift. And I started intently listening to your music on Spotify so proudly. I will make music to remind me of you I promise Jordanne, I do. I know you lived with much regret. And for you I do as well. Cause you were a great friend. You cooked me vegan food when I first met you and I’ll never forget you laughing saying; It’s gonna be lit. I remember taking you when I first met you to get all that ink and your hands and Starbucks afterwards as our first platonic friend date. We ordered vegetarian sandwiches and tea. I remember you staying the night and flooding my bathroom lol and I hugged you and cleaned it up said; it’s ok shit happens don’t be sad.. You were and always will be a bright star to me. And I wish we had communicated more before you passed. I still don’t know how you left this world. And I’m dreading finding out. You really were this millennial eye opener for me. The first timeS I’d spent with you I laughed at how silly you were and you taught me about Snapchat haha. You taught me lit, fr, tbh were shortcuts to big feelings. I realized after you I was also an Millennial. I had no idea before you. You filled me with love and purpose in a time I had not many friends in LA. You were raw and uninhibited. I’m sharing some pictures of you and posts you made with me around. They are some of what’s left of those times we had. Not to shock I’d imagine as they are still on your instagram. I could go on forever and ever. Like your memory will go on forever and ever. One more light. One more star. Anytime I look up. I’ll see you shinning down. I’ll join you one day and we will shine together. I know your still here looking over all of us who knew and loved you so dearly. I know we will meet again in the afterlife that I am sure of. Thank you to your beautiful parents for bringing you life, if not for them there wouldn’t have been an you. And I appreciate them as much as you. You brought me son much joy. Thank you Jordanne Hackerott. One of my absolute bffs ever. I love you.

“ I miss you a lot, I'm glad I got to see you one last time in Tulsa before you moved out to Tennessee. I've thought about you a lot since then, and I wish I didn't have to find out this way, but I did, and now it's done. I keep seeing people that kind of remind me of you, I can see it in their face or the way they act, and I can't help but stare, feeling like a part of you is here still, and still wishing it was. I still love you. I always will, and I wish the best for your family and friends and everyone else that your existence extended to. You were a very special person.

I'll never know how serious you were about it, but I really wish you would have moved out to Eugene like you said you wanted to. I would have been more than happy to have you here, and maybe things could have changed for the better. I'll never forget you. I found a poem you wrote in one of my journals a couple months ago — from back when we used to write together. That was a couple days before I found out, and I didn't know it yet, but you were already gone. Strange how you still speak to me. Maybe you always will.

“ I keep thinking about you, and I wish I'd spoken to you more. I always felt like I'd be irritating you if I messaged, so I just left it so often, and now I keep thinking about how it was so much time wasted when I could have just been speaking to you. I'm sorry you're gone. I wish you weren't.

“ I'm going to miss seeing you here at work everyday, me making the funny faces to brighten your day, hearing your sweet voice making and booking all the visits. Lol I have your fidget spinner and I will never let it out of my sight I literally go to bed thinking about you every night. You were a true friend yes in deed and was always there for me at work when I was in need. Last Wed I asked you if you wanted some hot tamales candy and you said nah ummmm I'm white. Lmbo that's gone away stick with me you had me cracking me up the rest of the day. The good leave young and I know God makes no mistakes. I'm glad your at peace, no more stress, worries ext but I am going to miss our work conversations. Love you Riley always and forever.

“ I love you. Three words overused by many and underfelt by most. But I truly do. My world was much brighter having found your light and I feel fortunate, in all the years one possibly could exist, to have been part of this planet at the time your beautiful soul also graced it.

Melissa Kelley - July 03, 2019 at 03:17 PM

“ So very sorry for your loss! My thoughts are with you all!

Kim Betts - July 03, 2019 at 01:47 PM

“ My heart still hurts and I really still dont want to believe this. I was just thinking about you a week ago and wondering what you have been up to, right before I heard the sad news. I was thinking of all the good times we had when we were little, while our parents were working and going to work conferences. You always had a way of making people smile and laugh, and you defiantly had a beautiful soul, you were loved by so many. I wish I was able to see you and talk to you one last time but I know you are in a special place now watching over your family and friends. You will have so many missing you, Fly high beautiful! RIP Jordanne

“ I never met Riley, but it was clear to see even in the online world what a strong, positive impact they had on all those around them. Their kindness, heart and music touched many, and they will be missed. Much love to her family and friends at this time.

Nicole - July 03, 2019 at 05:45 AM

“ When Riley and I would talk it was often about her music or our love of Amanda Palmer and her way of thinking. If you read this, please hug a loved one today.

“ No words can truly express how sorry I am to hear about the passing of my childhood friend, Jordanne. We met at the age of seven on the school bus. In that first encounter we talked and sung songs from the Disney film Oliver and Company. After we got home, we discovered that we only lived a corner away from each other. I had recently moved to the neighborhood. After our parents met that same day, we would frequently visit each other's houses. Whether we were playing outdoors, with barbies, eating snacks, or watching movies, we always had fun. I will always remember her childhood crushes, the times she cried when something upset her, and her great love for music. One of my favorite memories of her was when she sung Amazing Grace in our fifth grade talent show. The last time I saw her in person was in high school, before she moved. However, a couple of years ago, we finally got a chance to speak and catch up. It was so good to talk about the good and fun times we shared growing up. She will forever hold a place in my heart.

“ I learned of Riley's passing just as I was boarding a plane leaving NY after my first visit. My eyes teared as I read the obituary and then I lost my wifi signal. On the plane I listened to all the songs I had in my phone, thinking about Android Girlfriend, how they changed my life. I loved their music, I usually don't listen to synth, but theirs was different for me. And I was so happy to support them on Patreon and while I didn't always have time to listen to the song straight away, I was always looking forward to listening to it.

I didn't know Riley personally that much, we exchanged few conversations regarding their Kickstarter campaign and the review they got for the album. I liked Android Girlfriend's music, but I loved Riley as well and I already know I'll miss them. The music will stay with me for the rest of my life and even in several decades they will not be forgotten.

They reminded me of Riley from Sense 8, whose character I really loved in the show. I don't think I've ever told her, or asked if that's where "Riley" came from. I figured there was always time..

I can't attend the funeral, but I'll light a candle tonight.

I hope you're happy elsewhere Riley ..and thank you so much for everything!

“ My deepest sympathies are with Riley's Family and fellow friends in this sudden and difficult time. They were one of the kindest people I have ever had the pleasure of knowing. I knew Riley from the time we were Highschool, we knew each other but only became close after graduation. They were so kind and always had the time to listen to whatever was troubling you. They actually helped me through one of my first heartbreaks, and I will always be grateful for them having taken me as their charge through that struggle. They could always be counted on for insight and advice. They were a creative force for themselves and others and they were the subject of many works of art, and always encouraged others to create for themselves. I was so happy to see them making music and art through these past two years. Riley had so many aspirations, and they went after what they wanted without apology. I always admired them and their wanderlust, their constant seeking for knowledge, and their intense questioning and critique of the world we live in. We have all lost someone so great and brilliant. They were one of the brightest stars that I've ever had the pleasure to watch burn. I'm thankful for the time I was granted with them and knowing them. Rest in peace, you lovely wonderful weirdo. We're all better people for having known you.

“ To Troy, Caroline, Roger, Glenna, Jay and family, My heart goes out to all of you with hugs and prayers upon hearing of the news of Jordanne's passing. Although I do not know of the circumstances, I can only imagine the grief and pain of losing your daughter, granddaughter and sister. I am so so sorry and life just isn't fair sometimes. May God reach out and guide you all through this time of heartache. Regards, Jeff and Shelly-Hogan-Twenter “ Riley helped me with music advice. We weren't close. I wish we had more time. I'm so glad for the little we had.

Kay Brendos - July 02, 2019 at 04:47 PM

“ After I reviewed Riley's album, we started chatting more often on FB. I was following their music, and looking forward to what they were going to create. It felt like our friendship was growing. I always looked forward to what they shared.

Peter Gillet - July 02, 2019 at 04:33 PM

“ We talked sporadically of meeting and what we'd do. We talked about politics and food. And money and how silly it is. Riley was a bright light in my life. I will miss you, Riley. I always say that the sky has an extra star when someone I love dies. I feel like this has never been more fitting.

Dylan Falconer - July 02, 2019 at 04:19 PM

“ Right now, all over the world people are talking about Riley, saying their name, feeling their struggle, holding each other in their memory. Listening to their music. Some of us did not know them personally but their light is crossing oceans and connecting hearts. People are reaching out and looking out for each other thinking about them. This is the kind of good in the world that stays with people. What a beautiful soul Riley must have been to create all that.

Ari - July 02, 2019 at 04:03 PM

“ Riley just understood. They were so bright and beautiful and unique. The world is a little darker without them.

Amanda - July 02, 2019 at 03:53 PM

“ Riley was a member of the first online community that felt like true community to me. Together we could be open, raw, real... and share our open, raw and real feelings, whether they were joyful or dark. They were always a bright light shining through. I watched their downs and ups, and loved the unfiltered lust for life that came through especially in the past few months. Losing Riley means that the world lost one of the kindest, most supportive humans I have known. The hole they left is big. But the light they sparked cannot be extinguished. Thank you for having been here, and thank you for having been in my life. I am forever changed and wherever you are now, I hope you're having fun.

Hana Tisserand - July 02, 2019 at 03:53 PM

“ Riley and I meet in LA, California when I first arrived there I was scared it was my first time being away from my family and my daughter. Riley helped me through my hard days on the days I was really missing my daughter Riley would help me through it by talking to me. Riley helped me feel welcomed and helped me through a lot. Riley was a spunky special person to me she always had the right thing to say in the hard time I went through I'll never forget the day we spent talking about if I was to go back home how I was going to deal with my depression or my old friends little things like that and how we wrote down a plan on every situation that we could think of. I really miss Riley she and I talked as much as we could if I wasn't busy working we would text to check in with each other I miss that man the day I found out she was gone I was about to text her and see how she was doing but as I went to her Facebook I found out she had passed my heart sunk. Riley you forever will be loved and missed RIP fly high girl I love ya.

Brianna - July 02, 2019 at 03:19 PM

“ Riley was always so supportive of people. She came to see me at a couple of cosplay events I was at. She was always happy and smiling, and very easy to get along with. Very down to earth, and always ready to have a conversation with anyone who would approach.
