“ I will always remember Mark's great sense of humor and contagious laugh! Every time we were together he was joking about something, and poking fun at himself or others - it was all good-natured and never mean-spirited, which made it that much more memorable. Rest in Peace, my good man....

“ When my sister's and I were little, I remember when Spanky or "Uncle Mark" would come by for a quick visit while he was on duty at metro. He of course would leave his car running and we could hear the police radio. It was always such a big deal to us and made us feel really "special" to have a policeman in our driveway. He always seemed so happy. He and his contagious laugh will be missed by everyone.
