

Agostina DeCesare

October 23, 1930 - December 19, 2025

Agostina DeCesare, 95, of Nashville, passed away peacefully on December 19, 2025.

Born on October 23, 1930, in Calabria, Italy, Agostina carried her heritage with pride throughout her life. It was in Italy that she met Joseph, whom she married before bravely immigrating to the United States to build a future together. With determination, creativity, and grace, Agostina became a skilled seamstress and talented clothes maker, known for her attention to detail and loving hands.

Above all else, Agostina was the heart of her family—the true matriarch who kept everyone connected. Her home was a place of warmth, laughter, and belonging, where Sunday dinners were not just meals but cherished traditions that brought generations together around her table. Those gatherings reflected who she was: generous, nurturing, and deeply devoted to her loved ones.

Agostina found joy in life's simple pleasures. She was an avid gardener who delighted in watching things grow, loved music and dancing, and held a special place in her heart for animals. Her kindness, strength, and gentle spirit left a lasting impression on all who knew her.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Joseph DeCesare, and her beloved son, Michael DeCesare.

Agostina is survived by her loving sons, Dominic DeCesare and Joseph DeCesare; and her cherished granddaughter, Jessica DeCesare (Desiree), who will forever carry her memory in their hearts.
