“ I was so sorry to hear of Meloy's passing. I remember all the fun stories Stacey would tell about her. Know that all of you are in my thoughts and prayers in the days, weeks, and months to come.

“ Words are hard to find to adequately express the feelings I have for Barbara. I loved her because she loved my mother so. I'd dare say it would be hard to find a person that knew my mom better than Barabara. They first bonded as mothers of deceased children. As time passed they shared many things life threw at them, and Mom said she loved Barbara like a sister. After Mom died, Barbara became a suragote mom to me. She was able to give me comfort in my loss and direction as to what she knew my mom would want. I will always remember Barbara's big laugh, our talks, and mostly the way she always made me feel as if everything was going to be ok. Her gift was that of a comforter. And she used it well.....Rhonda Shepperd

“ What an amazing life you had. You were the best Mom ever, even though I might not have thought that as a teenager. You made me “walk the line” so to speak. At the time I resented it but the more I grew and matured I am thankful you did. For without your direction then I would have been lost today. I remember when you found out I dropped out of college and joined the military. I felt, as I like to call it, “the wrath of Barb”. You were the first one standing though when I graduated tech school. I went back to school after the military, you were the first one standing to congratulate me. When I got my first xray job you were the first to give me a hug. When I went through my ugly divorce you were the first to let me cry on your shoulder. When I married my husband now you said, “i’m so glad to see you get married before I die.” You were my mother, my best friend, the first to offer advice, good or bad, my shoulder to cry on and the best next door neighbor a girl could have. I’m deeply sad to see you leave me but I know others were happy to greet you. Until we meet again I will try to be the woman the wanted me to be. I will always remember you for the woman you were. Love you to the moon and back and even more. Pam
