“ Hi, I'm Beverly's daughter and I just wanted to share with you that Mom mentioned you when telling us childhood stories. You have an unusual name so you have to be the same person that she mentioned. These are very kind, sweet memories that you have of her and are a great tribute to her. Thank you.

“ Though I have not seen Beverly in nearly a half century, I was moved to learn of her passing from Jan Baker. She was my “first crush”; way back when we both shared the same 8th grade classroom. And though I was pathologically shy and unable to gather the courage to talk to her, it now appears that those childhood memories were tucked away in a hidden corner of my heart, a corner that I was not even aware of. But then again, she was a very special person who left lasting impressions on everybody who knew her. Her ever-present and contagious smiles warmed up any room that she entered; all who knew her felt an immediate and sincere friendship the moment they made contact. It appears that she lived a full life and spread that joy to all those around her. While she has departed the world we are familiar with, her spirit and sparkle live on through her children, grandchildren and the many, many friends she made on the journey of her life.
