CJ was a wonderful man. He had diabetes, was taking dialialics (can't spell) and waiting for a kidney transplant. He went to bed Thanksgiving and didn't wake up. When CJ was very young, my son John was married to his Mother. He was always such a sweet boy. He could even test his sugar level, measures his insulin and give his own shot. When he got older and wanted to play sports he had a pump but didn't like it. I don't think he ever truly realized that diabetics was a deadly killer. I pray he is with the Lord now, finely at rest and I pray for the family to be at peace. Please if you can, donate to his funeral expense. May God rest your soul Carl (CJ) Summers, may he give your wife and children peace.

“ Me cj and Jacob was going to my old bosses house around Christmas. Theresa and Leslie where at the house and we where having a boys day. Theresa had picked up this creepy doll that was on a horse. Cj took the doll out of the trash bag and put it in the back seat with Jacob. Half way down the road cj started talking about creepy dolls moving on there on. I look in the review mirror and Jacob is staring at this creepy doll. I tap cj and he also looks in the mirror into the back seat. I take a couple extra blocks to go home and me and cj are watching Jacob. It don't take but a few minutes and cj winks at me and starts pulling a string that I didn't knw he tied to doll. Jacob makes me stop the car and gets out and throws the doll half way cross the parking lot. I knw this is one of those had to be there moments to get the jest of the story but it was hilarious and I will never forget it. Cj u where q dam good father and one of the best men I ever met I love u man. This can't be real
