“ Gail was my neighbor when our family first moved to Nashville. She was always kind and generous and a great first friend as we settled into our new city. Long after we moved from the house on McChesney, she "tended" to a hydrangea bush at the end of the porch near her house that was a gift from my boys one Mother's Day- it had meaning for her that it was a gift of love and she wanted to see it flourish. That sums up her kindness.

“Gail was a force of nature! Ironically, she also LOVED nature, tending to her flowers and giving my cuttings for my house as recently as this summer. (*I do not have her green thumb so, alas, those plants didn't make it!) Gail loved her family fiercely! "Gigi" was not only a great example of Christianity, but also an uplifting and loyal friend of mine for 25+ years. We met randomly, and I am forever grateful. She was ALWAYS thinking of someone else... bringing me McDonald's Sweet Tea and calling me for advice saying "I need your brain!" What a compliment. She made everyone feel special-- including the many families she served at her beloved Church as well as the many Weddings she produced! Heaven may have gained an Angel, but the world is certainly less bright without her in it. But, she's where her heart as always been...
