“ I wanted to add our pictures together to honor your importance in my life.

Missing you so much! I love you Mama Jean.

Thank you for showing me love, since I was a 5th grader and came into your life through my friendship with April, your kind heart, friendship, being there with me the day my Courtney passed. Your memory will live on in my mind and heart forever. It was truly an honor to have you love me and tell everyone, I was your daughter from another mother. Your advice and direction through the years brought calmness and a sense of security to my life. It can never be replaced. Thank you also for being there even more for me after my mom passed. You were such a support to me and Gavin. I hope you knew your incredible presence in my life was a blessing to me. Please know you were loved so much by me and many others. RIP Mama Jean. Your #4 daughter from another mother, Theresa

“ I'm going to miss my Sister....we has so much fun together when I was little. Once we tried to see which one of us could get the most Double Bubble gum in our mouths...not sure who won didn't matter....another time we tried swinging so high just to see if we could go all the way around...didn't make it but again didn't matter we were having fun. One of my most treasured memories was when the Ice Cream truck came I would run to her and ask for a dime and she always gave me one.I would only ask once a week. When I went to live in the orphanage she would get me out on weekends. She even bought my graduation dress...it had to be white and I didn't have one or the money to buy one. If not for her doing that for me I wouldn't have been able to walk and get my diploma. She was always a good listener...no matter when I called she was there. If I couldn't sleep I would text her to see if she was awake then we would spend the next couple of hours texting. We've had our ups and downs all siblings do but I know she loved me and she knew I loved her. I will always regret not telling her I loved her one more time. I know she's in Heaven (she had such a Big Heart) and if words have wings I would send "I love you" to her. I will miss you so much.....

“ It is such a weird feeling. When I think about the fact that I will never get to see you again, I get this deep ache in my chest. I know you only passed yesterday, but I feel like I've been missing you forever already. I will never get to make you a glass of sweet tea again or tell you how proud I am of you for getting up and walking around the house. I will never get to paint your nails that signature red again. Sometimes we'd experiment with a pink, and it looked beautiful on you. I will never get my "goodnight" or goodmorning" texts again. I will never sigh in slight annoyance as you asked me fifty million questions as soon as I'd woken up. I wish that never annoyed me now. It stopped annoying me eventually, because I grew up and realized you just needed someone to talk to. It should've never annoyed me to begin with. I will never sneak up to see you at 3 in the morning and stay the night gossiping ever again. I will never make any more memories with you. That causes a huge lump in my throat. But I have made so many memories with you. And I've loved on you and visited you my whole 22 years of life. You met my first child. I will forever cherish what I did have with you, and I will be grateful. Life doesn't last forever, but the memories with you and the memories of the person you were will always be alive to me until I'm gone too. I am forever thankful for that. Love Summer

“ I met Jean Coble when I was in 5th grade. Jean became my 2nd Mama. She was funny, caring, generous and an incredible cook. I witnessed the love she had for her family growing up. It was unconditional. Family came 1st with Jean. She was always there for everyone in their time of need. Jean called me #4. Her daughter from another mother. My memories are many and filled with a woman that loved completely without judgment. I will miss her so very much. I love you Mama Jean. Rest easy until we meet again.
