“ Justin and I would play Xbox together all the time. Some nights it would just be him and I playing games from 9pm-9am just talking about life and what we wanted to do with our future and what we would do when we got there. Justin was such a down to earth, real, genuine, and kind person that will be missed by every single person who knew him. He was never afraid of anyone or anything and would do absolutely anything to protect the ones he loved and held dear. Rest easy Grim. We'll take it from here brother. ”

“ Not many know. But I had been in active addiction. He helped get me clean and became my support system. Between stepping in for my counselors for me etc. I'll forever be grateful. He took on role as a brother too me and I'll forever be grateful. He was so happy and supportive for me when I first started my company. My first sale, my first convention, everything. He was so overwhelming loving and caring to me and I never knew how to repay it. As I'm in another state currently I won't be able to say my final goodbyes in person but he'll continue to live in my heart. Justin was more then this earth ever deserved.
