“ I met Leonard about a year and a half ago when we began attending the same church. He introduced himself as Redd and that is how I've known him. I wish I could have met him years earlier. A few weeks after we met--- at our Men's Bible study--- Redd told us that he had gotten a new Bible and had started reading at the beginning in Genesis. When I suggested that he might want to skip ahead to something easier, perhaps the book of John, Redd immediately stated that he was already up to Psalms. I responded " in that case, you are doing great---don't listen to me. " A few months later, he announced that he had read the entire Bible and was reading portions again. Redd was a fine man with an exceptionally sweet spirit. About a year ago, Redd helped us hang banners for Memorial Day. He mentioned that he was considering wearing his Army Uniform that Sunday. He told me later that he had to make two trips to a military supply outfit to replace some missing items. (Buttons, I think). But Sunday came and Redd was a proud young soldier again. We were and continue to be so proud of you my friend! We will miss you until we meet again.
