“ When I first took over Center Point Liquors from my family in 2006, one of my first hires was Ray. What a blessing to find such a reliable and trustworthy person I could always count on. And in the end, a trustworthy confidant to share personal matters as well. As you can imagine it was great when we had a Christmas get together and he brought out his guitar. This particular pic is one of my favorites from one of our CPL Christmas parties. Ray's gentle love and kindness is what I will miss, but also what I will most remember.

“ I got to know Ray while working with him at Center Point. He was like a big brother to me. We became more than co-workers, we became instant friends. The great memories and stories we had together will never be forgotten. Rest In Peace my friend.
