“Wow. I love you and miss you and although it breaks my heart in half, I always know that God's will, will always be done. I am comforted by knowing you no longer know pain and suffering but eternal love, light and happiness. I know your family has gained a guardian angel and you will be watching over your babies and family always, walking beside them in spirit. I am covering this entire family in prayer for comfort, peace, and beautiful memories and am thankful they have one another to love and carry on your legacy and memories to share with your children as they grow and get older. God blessed your children with an amazing grandmother to care for them. You were always so sweet to me, I love you and miss you, you big teddy bear! RIP with our awesome Savior. I will see you again someday, sweetheart.

“ I love you so much! We spent every day together since July of last year when we found out about the brain tumor. You were so strong to fight this battle! Your 3 children are your legacy and I appreciate your trusting me to keep, love and take care of them for you. They know how much you loved them and we will miss you and think of you every day. I cried when you were born naturally and continue to cry since you went away, but I am so grateful to God for having you in my life! I laugh when I think about your signing for me to be your P.O.A, then asking me if I am now your P.O.W...and I said YES, I will always be captivated by you. You amazed me in so many ways and I am so proud of you, my son! God was great to give us time to be together and do your "bucket list". You loved to play guitar and play me "Be a simple kind of man". I knew you had a big heart before the doctors told you that you had an enlarged heart. You were born on Labor Day and Thanks for your last words whispered to me on Mother's Day saying "I LOVE YOU"! You will always be immortal to me and I have many great memories that will live inside of me forever. You were a wonderful son, husband and father, brother, uncle, nephew, cousin, grandson, friend and will be missed by all! Thanks for all the memories of love, tears and laughter!

“ My precious and awesome nephew, you will be missed by so many people. People whose lives you have touched and you will remain in their hearts always. You were such a generous, loving, giving soul and I will think of you often, always with such fond memories. Gosh I'm going to miss you Shawn. I think back to when you and David we're just kids, running around chasing each other, and we were constantly telling you'll to calm down. I laugh thinking of all the silly and crazy things you and your friends would do and get into. The lord has you now, with his arms around you, letting you know it was ok for you to leave this earth, and make the journey to heaven. You are safe, pain free and free from this earth, to live eternal life. You will be missed so much. I love you Shawn. Crazy Aunt Linda
