“ I'm sorry for your great loss.
It's always difficult to lose a loved one, but it's especially tragic to lose them so young. I lost someone very dear to me some years ago and what brings me comfort, especially on those hard days when it gets hard to cope, is to reflect on the promises of the Bible. John 5:28,29 says there will be a resurrection and Revelation 21:3-5 says there will be a future on Earth without any suffering. I hope these promises bring you as much comfort and hope as they have for me. Please accept my most sincere condolences. jw.org

“ I offer my deepest condolences to the Wilson family. Isaiah 25:8 says that He will swallow up death forever, And the Sovereign Lord Jehovah will wipe away the tears from all faces.
I pray that this scripture brings some comfort to the family during their time of bereavement.
