“ I love you pa

shelly adams - August 24, 2020 at 09:54 PM

“ I can’t fathom the phrase “there comes Granny and Pa”, without pa! You’ve always treated me like a daughter, and often reminded me of it throughout the years. Whether it was slipping me a little money, getting up late at night to eat brownies with me, or dancing in the kitchen to Christmas tunes, these are all things I’ll never forget. During my drive home to Nashville from Atlanta today, a song came on. I heard the first few words, “Grandpa, tell me bout’ the good ole’ days”, and it didn’t make me sad, it made me happy because you’ve told me so many stories about the good ole’ days. Stories, I’ll cherish forever. Thank you for being an example of how a man works hard to provide for his family. I’m not sure I’ve ever seen someone work as hard as you did! My hope is that you strap on those Levi’s and button up shirt and finally find the screwdriver you’re always searching for. Until we meet again Burlo, I’ll save a dance for you! I love you and I’ll miss you!
