Warren will be dearly missed and always remembered.

“ To my son,

You were planned for, wanted and excitedly waited for. You are an integral part of me. One of the four most important men in my life. Now there is an emptiness nothing can fill. A hole that is never-ending. I only hope that I said I love you enough. We never had that last hug; never got to say goodbye, never did all the things we'd planned. We will meet again...and then the pain will go away. Until then...I love you more
